IN THE SHADOW OF WEST VIRGINIA'S INVALUABLE POSSESSIONS, OIL AND NATURAL GAS, STANDS WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY, PROUD TO HAVE PART IN AN INDUSTRY SO VITAL IN THE PROGRESS OF MODERN CIVILIZATION.

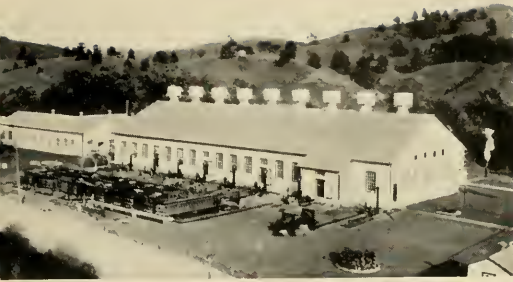

Dedication

Because of the importance of oil and natural gas to West Virginia industry and because of the State's contributions to the world in this field, we hereby dedicate this, the 1939 MONTICOLA, to the

OIL AND NATURAL GAS INDUSTRY
OF WEST VIRGINIA.

The first Gas Well in West Virginia, Burning Springs, Wirt County.
It is still producing gas, but must be pumped to keep off water.

A gas compressing station. At these stations the gas is compressed, gasoline and water vapor removed and the "dry" gas then transmitted to points of consumption.

A Gasoline Refinery. At these refineries, the natural gas-gasoline, or petroleum, are separated into their component parts. From these—gasoline, liquified petroleum gases and numerous other products are obtained.

The Oil and Natural Gas Industry has been a real factor in the development and prosperity of West Virginia.

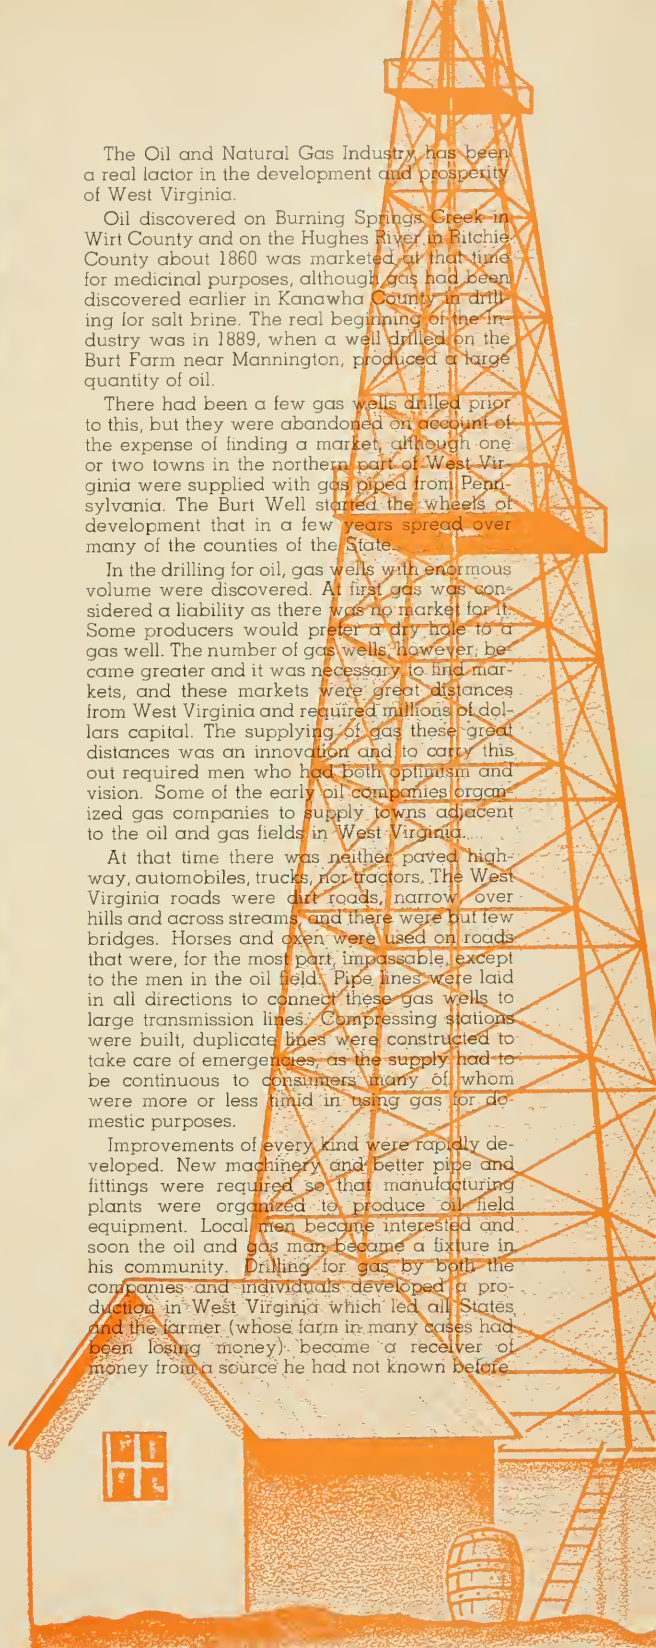

Oil discovered on Burning Springs Creek in Wirt County and on the Hughes River in Ritchie County about 1860 was marketed at that time for medicinal purposes, although gas had been discovered earlier in Kanawha County in drilling for salt brine. The real beginning of the industry was in 1889, when a well drilled on the Burt Farm near Mannington, produced a large quantity of oil.

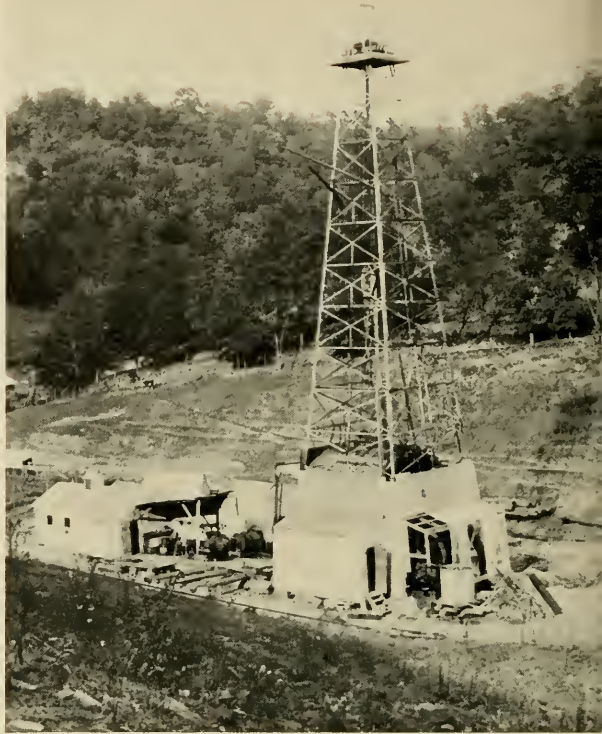

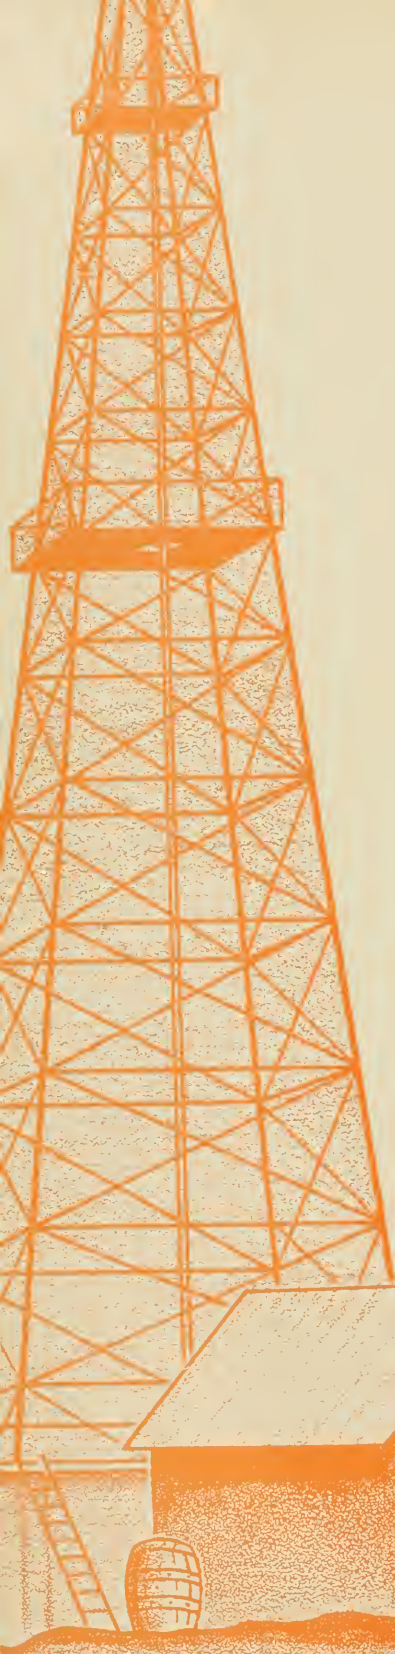

There had been a few gas wells drilled prior to this, but they were abandoned on account of the expense of finding a market, although one or two towns in the northern part of West Virginia were supplied with gas piped from Pennsylvania. The Burt Well started the wheels of development that in a few years spread over many of the counties of the State.

In the drilling for oil, gas wells with enormous volume were discovered. At first gas was considered a liability as there was no market for it. Some producers would prefer a dry hole to a gas well. The number of gas wells, however, became greater and it was necessary to find markets, and these markets were great distances from West Virginia and required millions of dollars capital. The supplying of gas these great distances was an innovation and to carry this out required men who had both optimism and vision. Some of the early oil companies organized gas companies to supply towns adjacent to the oil and gas fields in West Virginia.

At that time there was neither paved highway, automobiles, trucks, nor tractors. The West Virginia roads were dirt roads, narrow, over hills and across streams, and there were but few bridges. Horses and oxen were used on roads that were, for the most part, impassable, except to the men in the oil field. Pipe lines were laid in all directions to connect these gas wells to large transmission lines. Compressing stations were built, duplicate lines were constructed to take care of emergencies, as the supply had to be continuous to consumers many of whom were more or less timid in using gas for domestic purposes.

Improvements of every kind were rapidly developed. New machinery and better pipe and fittings were required so that manufacturing plants were organized to produce oil field equipment. Local men became interested and soon the oil and gas man became a fixture in his community. Drilling for gas by both the companies and individuals developed a production in West Virginia which led all States, and the farmer (whose farm in many cases had been losing money) became a receiver of money from a source he had not known before.

There are at the present time in West Virginia some 19,000 oil wells with an annual production of some three and one-half million barrels of oil, valued at over five million dollars, and over 11,000 producing gas wells with a total annual production of some one hundred and fifty billion cubic feet, valued at some forty-five million dollars. To operate such an industry requires many compressor stations, gasoline plants, oil refineries, hundreds of miles of high pressure pipe lines, as well as thousands of skilled workmen.

Such an Industry creates taxable wealth to help provide State and County revenues. It helps make possible better schools, churches and highways. The property taxes paid by this Industry reaches 46 of the 55 counties and in some, exceeds 50 percent of the total taxes levied. In addition to property taxes the Industry pays about $2,000,000 gross sales tax. It also returns to the land owner in rentals and royalties an excess of $5,000,000 annually.

West Virginia and West Virginians have played an important role in the Oil and Natural Gas Industry. The State has served as the laboratory or training ground for many of the men prominent in the development of this industry in other States. It was I. C. White, a West Virginian and State Geologist, who successfully demonstrated the application of the anticlinal theory, the most important single contribution to the location of oil and gas fields.

The State, through its Geological Survey located at West Virginia University, has published and made available complete sets of reports and maps on the State that have been of inestimable value to the industry. The department of geology and engineering school keep abreast with new technique and development so as to be of service to the industry in helping solve their problems and in the preparation of students with the best possible training to carry on.

The Oil and Gas Industry will be an important one in West Virginia for many years. It will, however, experience many changes in character. The oil remaining in the sands, will be recovered by new methods including repressuring with gas, air and water flooding. This requires new technique and procedures. Deeper and deeper wells will be drilled. This presents new problems. The Industry has met and solved its problems before and will continue to do so in the future.

The picture on the next page depicts a low temperature fractional distillation analysis apparatus. The operation is being intently watched by students of the University. The analyses are used by the gas industry, the Public Service Commission, and the Geological Survey to study the composition and properties of natural gas as produced, processed, and consumed.

It is one of the primary purposes of the West Virginia Geological Survey (which is housed in the Chemistry Building) to investigate and report upon the natural resources of the State. Since natural gas represents such a resource, ranking second in fact, it is fitting that accurate data upon this resource be had.

CHARLES E. LAWALL

It was a warm day at the end of August, 1938, and Charles E. Lawall, then Director of the School of Mines, had been explaining for a day and a half to the members of the Board of Control in Charleston, the advantages of the construction of a Mineral Industries Building (a picture of which appears on page 14) on the West Virginia University campus.

He had explained in detail how it would fill a long-standing need in the State. Having finished his explanation, he was preparing to leave the room when he said:

"I suppose that you are going into a conference on the matter of a new president at the University, and I hope you find just the right man. I must return to Morgantown. I have taken too much time as it is."

He was assured that he hadn't taken up their time unduly and that they had found the right man for the presidency.

"That's fine," Lawall replied. "Who is he? I would like to meet him."

"You have," the chairman answered. "I have been talking to him for the past two days. You are he."

So, as Arthur B. Koontz, president of the Board of Control, stated, "Because of the familiarity of Charles E. Lawall with affairs of the University, his demonstrated ability as an administrator, because of the efficient way he had handled his department and his general knowledge of the State of West Virginia, he was the Board's choice for acting president of West Virginia University."

President Lawall joined the staff of the College of Engineering in 1921 as a professor of mining engineering and director of mining extension. Since that time he has become known throughout the State as a leading influence in the advancement of the coal, oil, gas, and kindred industries by coal loaders, gas workers, and operators, as well as the leaders of these industries.

Student Council

The governing board of the student body is the Student Council. It is a standing committee which serves as a connecting link between the administration and the students. The Council in addition to selecting men for various administrative and executive committees, makes all regulations concerning inter-class contests and relations, and reviews official acts of all officers and committees.

The Student Council is composed of ten members, elected annually by the student body. These members are as follows: president of student body, who is an ex-officio member; a senior man and senior woman representative; a junior man and junior woman representative; and the presidents of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes.

The purpose of Associated Women Students, composed of all women students enrolled in the University, is to regulate all matters pertaining to the student life of its members; to further in every way a spirit of unity and friendliness among the men and women of the University; to increase the student's sense of responsibility; and to be a medium for maintaining high scholastic and social standards.

Open House, held each Friday night in Elizabeth Moore hall, met with huge success having an average attendance of two hundred students.

Upper-class women acted as guides for the new women on the campus and guide meetings were held for the freshmen women during the first semester.

One of the outstanding jobs of the council was the point and merit system. Blanks were distributed asking women to record all the major and minor activities they had participated in while in the University.

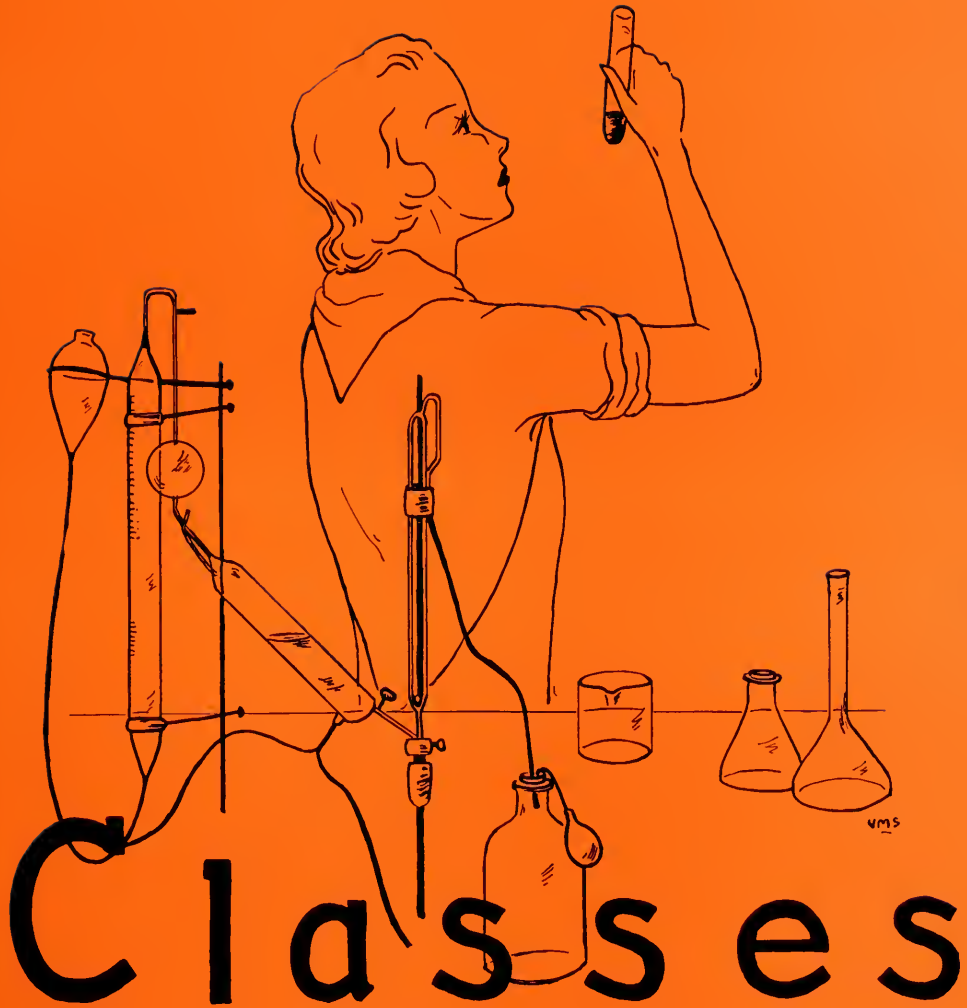

The purpose of this system was to limit the number of outside activities, to create a fairer distribution of offices and to provide a basis for the selection of women to the various honoraries, clubs, and organizations.

The annual "Gold Digger's Ball" was sponsored by A. W. S. and women treated the men for the evening. A. W. S. also helped Young Women's Christian Association sponsor an art exhibit. Teas were given the faculty, presidents of campus organizations, and the mothers of students.

Many liquid mixtures can be separated only by a process of distillation. The illustration shows a one-barrel still with a fractionating column and condenser. It is used for separating crude oil into some of its fractions. The student on the ladder is drawing a sample from the column for examination. This still, together with a number of other large pieces of equipment, is used by the chemical engineering students in studying unit operations and unit processes.

FRATERNITIES

Robert Lee Bird is examining samples of drill cuttings, from a deep well drilled as a test for natural gas. This work is being done to obtain information on the subsurface geology of the state, under the guidance of Professor James H. C. Martens. It is hoped that this will be of considerable value to the oil and gas operators. The Geological Survey has in its samples storage room about 30,000 samples of drill cuttings from 150 different wells.

The Committee on Student Publications is composed of five faculty members, appointed by the president of the University, and two students, appointed by the president of the Student Body. This committee supervises all of the student publications, including the Monticola, Daily Athenaeum, Student Directory, Moonshine, Freshman Handbook, Coon Skin, and Cruiser.

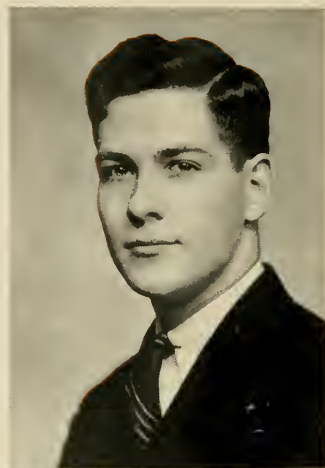

All applicants for positions on the staffs of these various publications must be approved by this committee. Each staff in turn is responsible to it and must make suitable reports.

Editor

ELERY A. McDONALD

Business Manager

The 1939 Monticola is deeply indebted to the West Virginia Oil and Natural Gas Association and its secretary, Edwin Robinson. They have made it possible for us to give recognition to one of our state's most important industries—the oil and gas industry. The assistance of Paul H. Price, state geologist, in the preparation of the material for the dedication was invaluable.

We are indebted to Shirley Currey for her assistance as literary editor; to Al Volker for his splendid resume of the sports year; to Jack

Shepherd for his work as advertising manager; to Evelyn Harris for her work in the beauty contest; to Jack Bryan for his feature column; to Vernah Stewart and Ernest Hutton for art work; to Alex Adair and Jack Shadel for the snapshot pages; and to Hubert DeLynn for hours of tireless service.

Those staff members whose pictures do not appear include: Mildred Selby, Jack Shadel, Dick Welch, Bill Morrison, Bill Sowers, Hubert DeLynn, Jack Bryan, James Kidwell, and Harold Heyer.

Five days a week the students of West Virginia University are supplied with copies of the Daily Athenaeum, published by the department of journalism, one of the outstanding newspaper training schools in the country.

The editors of the Daily Athenaeum this year, Al Volker and Creel Cornwell, had the honor of starting the Daily Athenaeum off on the first year of its second half-century.

In September, 1887, the first copy of the Athenaeum was published with U. S. Grant Pitzer as the first editor. It was planned to put out an issue every two weeks and the printing was done by Julian Fleming, proprietor of the New Dominion steam printing house.

The Athenaeum is now published every day except Sunday and Monday. It keeps the students abreast of national news through the medium of the United Press.

This year the Daily Athenaeum has been heard as well as seen through the Campus Commentator, who broadcasts campus news through the University studios.

Mountaineer Week Team

The Mountaineer Week Team comprises a group of students at West Virginia University who visit the various high schools of the State about Easter time each year. Their purpose is to tell of the educational opportunities offered at our State University by presenting a brief, yet comprehensive, sketch of student activities on the campus and for bringing about a better understanding between the State high schools and the University.

The team was first organized in 1927. It has completed its 12th annual tour. The team's activities are entirely student financed. For the past six years, Mountain, men's honorary, has sponsored the Mountaineer Week Team. For several years, Dr. Richard Aspinall, assistant to the president, has been coach of the team.

This year's Mountaineer Week Team program was perhaps the most comprehensive and extensive yet attempted. In all, 128 high schools located in every county of the State were contacted. In addition, members of the team conferred with students of two junior colleges with regard to future enrollment at the University. Twelve University men were selected as regular members of the group and three were chosen as alternate members for short speaking tours.

Never before this year had University women been included in the personnel of the team. This year more than thirty young women volunteered to appear at their home high schools, with the man member of the team whose tour included that particular high school.

Five motion picture projection outfits were dispatched to different sections of the State to show pictures of the campus, of high school athletic events held at the University, and of college activities.

Men's Glee Club, with a membership of 75, under the direction of Mr. Frank Cuthbert, School of Music, visited three high schools.

Third row—Charles E. Allard, George Arthur Shawkey, Vernon Bailey, Carl A. Aronson, H. Paige Bell, William E. Gilmore.

Fi Batar Cappar

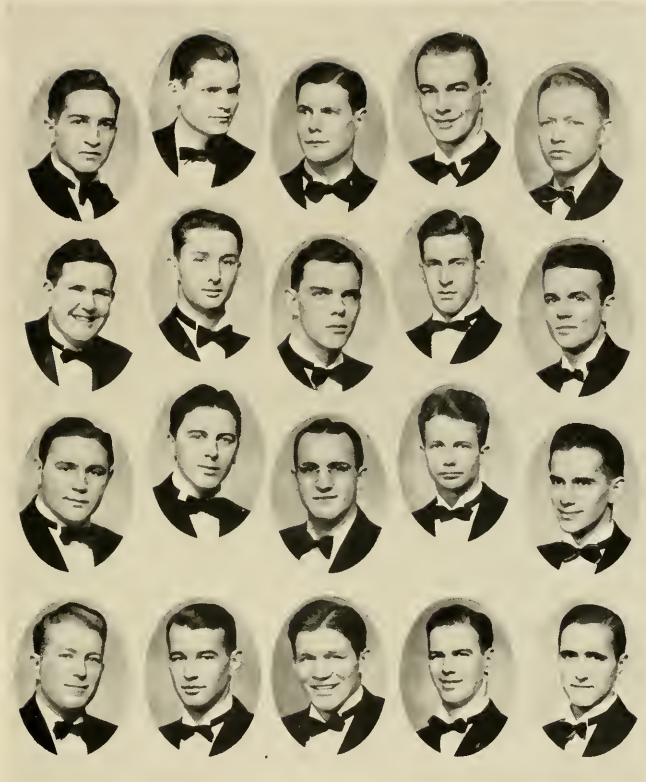

Fi Batar Cappar is the men's mock honorary organization for campus leaders and lettermen. The Alfa chapter was founded at W. V. U. on March 13, 1914, for the purpose of "boosting" the school. The founders adopted as a badge, a small square of leather emblematical of the goal of college life—the sheepskin. Its fastener is a small piece of brass derived from the ancient brazen calf, the meaning of which is one of the secrets of the organization.

The Fi Batars undertook two new tasks this year. They started a new scholarship loan fund for minor sports athletes with Dr. Thomas E. Ennis, their adviser, the trustee of the fund. The Freshman Honor court was started and was composed of one member each from Fi Batar Cappar, Mountain, Sphinx, and a representative from the campus at large. The purpose of the Honor court was to prescribe the punishment for freshman rule violators.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

The date of conception of Alpha Epsilon Delta was April 28, 1925; when, according to an old historian's book, "fifteen leading pre-medical students, under the leadership of Dr. Jack P. Montgomery, met in Toumey Hall at the University of Alabama, to discuss the writing of a constitution."

Since 1926, chapters have been installed at Howard College, Birmingham, Alabama; University of South Carolina, University of Texas; Baylor University; University of Florida; University of Georgia; West Virginia University; and Alabama Polytechnical Institute.

As a result of much work on the part of students and of Dr. A. L. Darby, Epsilon Alpha chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta was established at West Virginia, May 30, 1931.

In order to stimulate interest in the various divisions of the College of Agriculture for women, the Home Economics club was organized to develop leadership and cooperation in the groups. Speakers give the members direct applications of their major subject, with the advantages and disadvantages of each.

Any home economics major is eligible for membership in the club and each year before the official opening of the organization, the officers plan and conduct a membership campaign with a representative from each of the four classes to assist. The representative who obtains the greatest number of members receives a gift at the first meeting which is a party in honor of freshman students. The cabinet of the club is the hostess for this meeting and the following meetings are conducted by the various members.

The serving and entertaining of guests during "Farm and Home Week" is the largest project of the club. One of the objects of the organization is to send a delegate to the national convention each year with this delegate reporting the convention proceedings to the club the next fall.

Journaliers

Fourteen years ago several men enrolled in journalism courses at West Virginia University gathered one evening to discuss a topic of mutual interest. They returned to their rooms that night as members of a new campus organization—the Journaliers.

Through the succeeding years the original purposes of these founders have been preserved in the creation of better fellowship among journalism students, promotion of the interests of the Daily Athenaeum, and an understanding of the journalism profession in general.

Always alert to promote the relations of the University with the press of the state, the Journaliers help entertain the visiting editors and publishers of the state, as they gather on the University campus for their annual conference. On the campus they award recognition to the most outstanding of the Daily Athenaeum's journalists.

Matrix

Banding together for the purpose of cementing friendships and furthering cooperation among the women of the department of journalism, Matrix, a professional organization, concerns itself with such activities as publishing a handbook for pre-journalism women, and a tea in Elizabeth Moore Hall in honor of visiting newspaper women and editors' wives each fall.

This year twenty-one women majors in journalism are members of Matrix. This group issued the Daily Athenaeum in a streamline fashion on one occasion this year. Sports and society alike were handled by the women. This spring the members were hostesses at a tea for freshman women who plan to major in journalism.

Matrix meetings are informal and emphasize good fellowship over professional spirit, but members are not unaware of the serious aspects involved in planning for a newspaper career.

College of Pharmacy

In response to the request of the West Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, the Board of Regents established a department of pharmacy in the School of Medicine in 1914. Since 1932, a minimum of four years of study has been required for a bachelor of science in pharmacy. The College of Pharmacy was established as a separate division of the University, June 6, 1936, by order of the Board of Governors.

The chief purpose of the College of Pharmacy is to provide systematic instruction in pharmacy, its allied sciences, and such other subjects as are deemed essential in the education of a pharmacist, that he may meet the present and future demands of the profession in an able and intelligent manner.

The beauty contest this year was judged by two Hollywood personalities—"Fuzzy" Knight and Johnny Mack Brown. We thought it entirely fitting that Fuzzy, a former student here at the University, who has since his undergraduate days made quite a name for himself in the capital of beauty and glamour, should be one of the persons to make the selection. The contest was judged solely from full length portraits. From the twenty-six contestants, five winners were chosen, and they appear in the order of their selection.

We found occasion to marvel at the speed of modern transportation during the contest, when we found our winner announced in the "Collegiate Digest" less than 2 hours after we had mailed the pictures to Hollywood. Of course we found out later that it was all a mistake. . . .

Beta Theta Phi

Beta Theta Pi fraternity pauses in its hundredth year for anniversary celebrations.

One of the fraternity world's great leaders, the late Francis W. Shepardson, advised the present site of Beta Psi chapter just ten years ago and his desire that the chapter house be built on the highest of Morgantown's seven hills has been fulfilled.

This year marks the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the national chapter at Miami university in Oxford, Ohio, and a centennial celebration will be held Aug. 4-8 this year in the little Ohio college town.

The Jennie Baird Society, an organization of mothers, wives, sisters, and daughters of Betas, was reorganized on the campus early in March and entertained with a Mother's Day tea at the chapter house.

Socially speaking the chapter with Mrs. Clarence Smith as housemother, entertained with its traditional Barn Dance in the fall, and the annual tea dance and formal, April 29.

Kappa Alpha

Kappa Alpha order was founded in 1865 during the presidency of Robert E. Lee at what is now Washington and Lee university. The purpose of the society was to preserve the Southern traditions which had been overthrown by the Civil War. Originally Kappa Alpha had been named Phi Kappa Chi, but the founders complied with the request of Phi Kappa Psi and renamed it Kappa Alpha to avoid possible confusion.

Alpha Rho chapter received its charter in 1897 and was one of the first fraternities on the University campus. The rose and the magnolia are the fraternity flowers and the colors are old gold and crimson. The 67 active chapters include a membership of more than 25,000.

Phi Delta Theta

The organization in 1916 of the "Virginian," a literary club composed of young men of high scholastic standing, was the first step in the establishment of West Virginia Alpha of Phi Delta Theta fraternity on the West Virginia University campus.

A bond of friendship grew up among the members of the literary society, and in the fall of 1919 Phi Delta Lambda was organized as a local Greek letter fraternity. There were nine charter members. "Phi Delta" was taken from the name of the national organization and "Lambda" added because Phi Delta Lambda was the eleventh fraternity to be recognized on the campus.

The group was determined to win a charter from the national organization. At the Montreal convention in 1926, a charter was voted this group of applicants. On March 12, 1927, under the direction of Dr. John J. Tigert, president of the General Council, and Arthur R. Priest, executive secretary, the chapter was installed.

There are 46 active members in the present chapter and 12 pledges. Richard Owen, Hastings, W. Va., is the president; Juane Hill, Charleston, treasurer; Jack Harvey, New York City, pledge master.

Phi Delta Theta was founded at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, December 26, 1848. Other members of the "Miami Triad" are Sigma Chi and Beta Theta Pi. There are 108 chapters in the national organization and approximately 49,000 active members.

Phi Kappa Psi

Because of a split in the Columbian Literary Society in 1889, the Athenian Literary Society was formed by the dissenting group. These men became interested in Phi Kappa Psi and petitioned its national officers for a chapter.

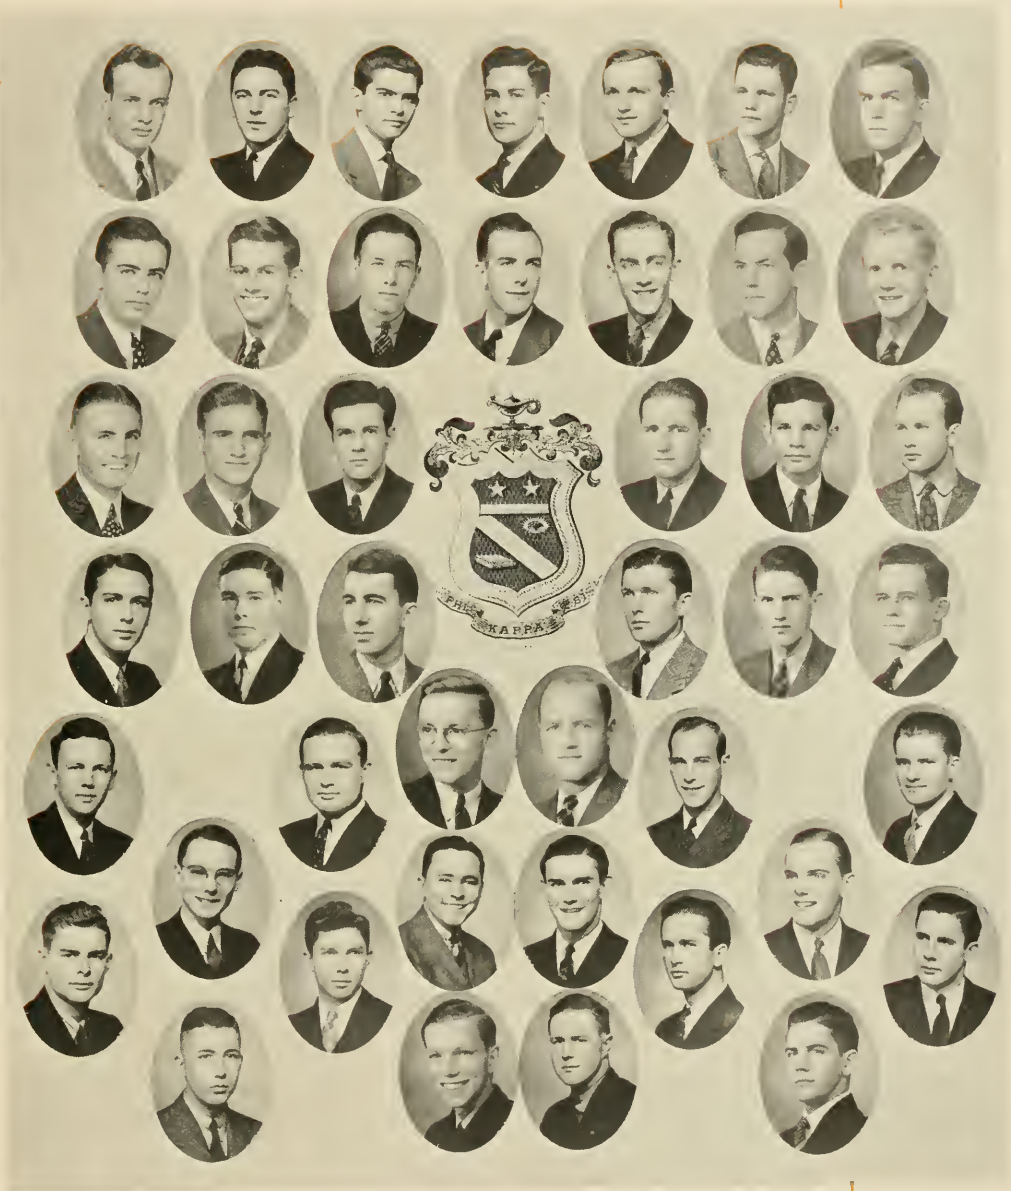

In order to become a fraternity, the petitioning group had to get permission from the administrative authorities of the University, as they had been opposed to the establishment of any fraternities on the campus. The permission was graciously given. In May, 1890, West Virginia Alpha chapter of Phi Kappa Psi was established.

This chapter thus has the distinction of being the oldest fraternity on the campus. The first chapter of Phi Kappa Psi was founded in 1852 at Jefferson College (it later became Washington and Jefferson). There are now 52 chapters and over 28,000 members. The fraternity colors are Hunter's Green and Cardinal Red. The flower is the Jacqueminot Rose.

Phi Sigma Delta

Alpha chapter, the first of twenty-one rapidly expanding chapters of Phi Sigma Delta was founded at Columbia University in 1909. The chapter at West Virginia University, Upsilon, was established from a local organization, Mu Delta Mu, which went national on May 7, 1927. On this date, Upsilon chapter came into being.

Our founders were men, modest, but of ulterior aims. Before them was always the desire to build a society that would be a recognizable, forceful, and integral part of the University. It has the endeavor to imbue all Phi Sigs with a desire to continue the Spirit, enthusiasm, and fraternalism, that has exemplified the conduct of our fratres of former years.

Phi Sigma Delta is sponsoring a noteworthy project whereby several German refugee students are brought to the United States to further pursue their college education. Upsilon chapter has done its share by sponsoring Heinze Eisenhardt, who is at the present time enrolled in the College of Engineering of the University.

The fraternity colors are purple and white; the fraternity flower is the carnation. The officers for the year 1939-1940 are: Murray M. Myers, master frater; Herbert Gottlieb, vice-master frater; Milton S. Koslow, treasurer; and Marvin S. Lennet, secretary.

Phi Sigma Kappa

Pi Kappa Alpha

Founded in 1868 at the University of Virginia, Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity was the result of the close friendship of several Virginia men who had served in the Confederate Army. Few new chapters were organized in the next twenty years and only four were actively functioning when a reorganization convention was held in 1889.

From that time until the present day, the fraternity has grown vigorously; 78 active chapters are now included in the organization. Alpha Theta chapter was founded at West Virginia University in 1904. Fraternity colors are garnet and old gold and the official flower is the lily-of-the-valley.

Performing regulatory duties in matters relating to rushing, pledging, and the initiation of men, the Inter-Fraternity Council, comprised of one representative from each fraternity, serves as a common ground for meeting the various problems of the fraternities on the West Virginia University campus.

The organization functions under a constitution which was devised in 1937. Each year an interfraternity dance is given. Joe Sanders, "The Old Left Hand", played the program of dances in the Field House in January.

Upholding the creed of the national Women's Pan-Hellenic Council, the West Virginia chapter endeavors to promote good scholarship, guard good health, maintain fine social standards, develop whole-hearted cooperation with the ideals of the college for student life, and serve the college community.

The organization, composed of a junior and a senior representative from each national social sorority on the campus, composes the rushing rules and attempts in various ways to acquaint the student body with its purposes and actions in achieving them.

Each year this organization sponsors a formal dance. The orchestra which entertained this year was that of Dick Stabile.

Alpha Delta Pi

Alpha Delta Pi sorority, the first secret organization for women, was founded on May 15, 1851, at Wesleyan Female College, Macon, Georgia, as the Adelphean Society. In 1904 it became a national Greek letter organization and since that time has established a total of 130 alumnae groups. The total membership exceeds 14,000. Alpha Upsilon chapter became a part of the national organization in 1924.

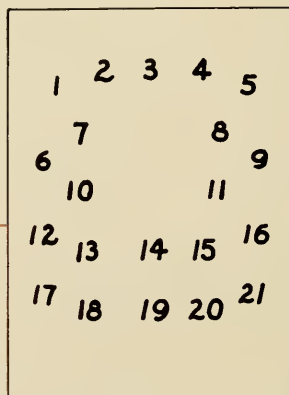

"Adelphean," the sorority magazine, is published every four months. It is the first sorority magazine to use a complete pictorial back. Azure blue, and white are the sorority colors and the flower is the wood violet.

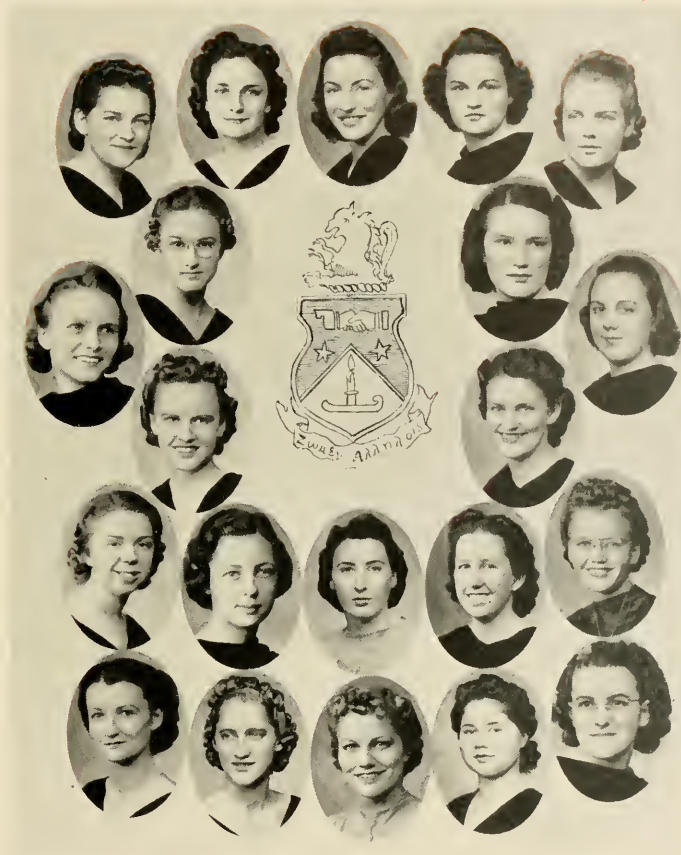

The most outstanding social event sponsored by the local chapter this year was its benefit dessert bridge held February 16 to raise money for the Abigail Davis National Student Loan Fund established many years ago by Alpha Delta Pi. During the month of February all Alpha Delta Pi chapters throughout the country sponsor a money-raising project to benefit this loan fund. Other social functions Alpha Upsilon chapter sponsored included an informal dance in October, a pledge tea honoring all campus sorority pledges, a Christmas party, prep show, initiation banquet, and the spring formal dance in May.

National officers who visited the local chapter during the year were Miss Marian Boyle, province president, and Miss Maxine Blake, grand first vice-president.

Alpha Phi

Ten women at Syracuse University founded Alpha Phi fraternity in 1872. These girls had dreamed of an organization, national in scope, and within a month of their founding they had successfully corresponded with women at other universities. In 1907 the organization became international with the installation of the chapter at Toronto. Today there are 37 chapters of Alpha Phi throughout the United States and Canada. There are 12,000 members.

The fraternity has pioneered in six fields. It was the first women's fraternity to build and occupy a chapter house. This was at Syracuse University in 1886. It set the precedent of the visiting delegate system now used by all national women's fraternities. Alpha Phi called the first inter-sorority convention which later formed the National Pan-Hellenic Congress. It was the first women's fraternity to have an endowment fund of $50,000 and was also the first to publish a history of its first fifty years. The precedent of a central executive office was set by Alpha Phi.

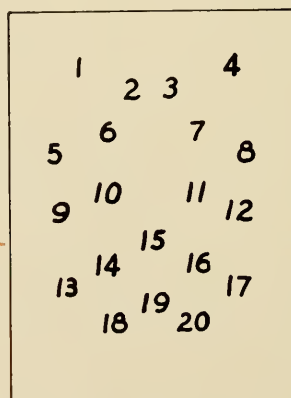

The official badge of Alpha Phi is the Greek letter "Phi" with the Greek letter "Alpha" superimposed upon it. The pledge pin is an ivy leaf of silver or gold with the letters of Alpha Phi. The colors are bordeaux and silver gray, and the flowers are the lily-of-the-valley and the forget-me-not.

Alpha Phi claims as one of its members the only woman in the Hall of Fame, Frances Willard. This honor came to her through her work for women's rights. There has been a United States postage stamp issued in her honor.

Beta Iota chapter of Alpha Phi was installed at West Virginia University in 1930. Among the traditional affairs of the chapter are the formal and informal dances, the annual Pledge Tea given for the pledges of all other women's fraternities on the campus, and the Senior Breakfast given in honor of the graduating members.

Alpha Xi Delta

Alpha Xi Delta, the first national sorority to be established on the West Virginia University campus, was founded at Lombard College, Galesburg, Ill., in 1893. The sorority colors are double blue and gold, and the flower is the pink Killarney rose and the pin is a gold quill.

Each year Alpha Xi Delta celebrates the day of its national founding. Every two years national sorority conventions are held. In non-convention years the nine provinces of the sorority hold individual province conventions at colleges selected by the province presidents. This year delegates from every college chapter in America will meet at Asheville, N. C., from July 3 to 7.

Delta Gamma

Wearers of the Delta Gamma anchor date their founding back to 1874 during the period just following the Civil War when there was a growing need for higher education for women. From its founding by three women: Eva Webb, Anna Boyd, and Mary Comfort in a Mississippi school known as the Oxford Female Institute, Delta Gamma has grown into a national organization comprising 47 active chapters and 96 alumni groups. It stands for the highest ideals and is established only in the colleges having the best scholastic and social standing.

The history of Delta Gamma has been a record of splendid achievement. The fraternity was admitted to the National Pan-Hellenic Association in 1902 and has been active since that time. The National president, Marguerite D. Winant, has served on the National Pan-Hellenic board for a number of years. The first edition of the Anchora was published in April, 1884, and is generally recognized as one of the outstanding fraternity publications.

Delta Gamma did active work during the World War in Belgium and in 1917 retained the Delta Gamma House at Ossendrecht, Holland, a seaside home for destitute and ailing children. The Student Loan Fund of Delta Gamma has aided many worthy students.

Alpha Xi chapter has made a record on the campus of West Virginia University entirely befitting that of the national organization. Established in 1922, the fraternity boasts of members in such campus honoraries as Phi Beta Kappa, Li-toon-awa, Rhodendron, Associated Women Students, Orchesis, Young Women's Christian Association, Phi Upsilon Omicron, and Alpha Epsilon Delta. The chapter held an informal dance in November, a formal in May, and pledge and initiation banquets. The pin of Delta Gamma is a golden anchor with a white shield and cable. The colors are bronze, pink, and blue and the flower is the cream colored rose.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Beta Upsilon chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, in its thirty-third year on the campus, points with pride to the new three-story Georgian colonial home which will be "home" for thirty members of the chapter and their housemother, Mrs. Charles Miller, beginning next September. The new residence has been under construction during the past three months.

Mrs. Beth Schofield, director of provinces from Indianapolis, Ind., visited the campus during the year and the women entertained campus friends with an informal dance on November 4 and a formal dinner-dance on March 24—a week following the formal initiation of 18 women.

Coeds from the Kappa Kappa Gamma house hold such positions as president of the Associated Women Students and vice-president of the student body, as well as representation in such campus honoraries for women as Mortar Board, Rhododendron and Li-toon-awa and have also gained prominence in speech and dramatic productions on the campus.

The group participates in the awarding of graduate women's scholarships to schools in Paris and Switzerland each year and for the last nine semesters have held the scholarship award for women's groups on the campus.

Kappa Kappa Gamma is one of the oldest Greek letter sororities. It was founded at Monmouth College, Illinois, in 1870. The Kappa's were the first to have a sorority magazine and to form a uniform budget system. The national has 71 chapters, 95 alumni chapters, and a membership of 25,000. The flower is the fleur-de-lis, and the colors are light and dark blue.

Phi Mu

On October 29, 1927, at West Virginia University, twenty-one young women were welcomed into the bond of Phi Mu Fraternity by Mrs. Clifford Roder, second vice-president, and Mrs. Evans Hornberger, national president.

Gamma Beta chapter, first called the Woodburn club, was organized at West Virginia University in May, 1926, and continued as a local sorority for a year and a half until a charter was obtained and the women of the Woodburn club became active members of the Gamma Beta chapter of Phi Mu.

Phi Mu is the second oldest secret organization for women in this country. It was founded at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia, on the fourth of January, 1852.

The three founders who are honored by Phi Mu each March 4 are: Mary Dupon Lives, Mary Mynrick Daniels and Martha Hardaway Reading. The organization as first founded was called the Philomathean Society and this name was retained until August 23, 1904. The local group is one of fifty-eight collegiate chapters and more than a hundred alumnae clubs.

One of the achievements of Phi Mu is the Healthmobile which does a valuable piece of humanitarian work among the poor and unfortunate babies of Georgia. The work is done under the direction of the Georgia State Board of Health and consists of equipping and maintaining of a large, specially equipped truck, which carries clinical and educational aid to the rural districts of the state.

Active members of Gamma Beta chapter belong to the English club, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Orchesis, and other local organizations.

Football

And so it came to pass that a great depression fell upon University football fortunes, and the 1938 football season came to be known as "The Year of the Great Let-Down" or "All Is Not Golden Era That Glitters."

After a season that had loyal Mountaineer fans harking back to the halcyon days of University football, predictions were made that the 1938 team would roar through to a great season. There were even those among the wagering gentry who were willing to risk a fin or two that the Mountaineers would at last draw bead on the Panther from Pitt.

Unfortunately the Panther—and others—had a few ideas of their own. But all in all, the season's woes were grossly exaggerated by a fandom that expected too much. Teams were laying for the Mountaineers after reading in the newspapers (anything for a story!) that the Mountaineers were rated fourth in the East behind Pitt, Fordham and Dartmouth.

It became speedily apparent that the Mountaineers should have been rated a little further down the list. Apparently having all the material necessary, there was little spirit on the team and less strategy. The breaks definitely went against the Glennmen and, although the Varsity looked good for short periods in every game, it wasn't consistent enough to play up to expectations. Just when it would appear that the Glennmen were under way, something fruity would happen, and the game would be thrown the other way.

For instance, in the Michigan State game, a game which the Spartans were favored to win after a close tussle, Clark, stellar left half of the Mountaineers, took the kickoff and returned it 60 yards deep into State territory. After making a first down the Mountaineers lost the ball. Then Pingel, State's all-American, and one of the best backs to face the Varsity all season, punted far downfield to the Mountaineers' five. The punt was blocked and recovered for a State touchdown. After this inauspicious beginning, the Mountaineers took to the air in a desperate gamble to regain the touchdown, and three passes were intercepted and run back for touchdowns.

Several thousand of the loyal and true traveled to Pittsburgh to see the opener, in which the Mad Mountaineers were supposed to show the Sutherlanders a thing or three. The result was disastrous, as the Panthers easily whipped the Mountain Men, 19-0. The score wasn't so bad, but the failure of the Varsity to make a single offensive threat was.

The next game was with Wesleyan, and the Glennmen assuaged their wounded feelings by smearing the Methodists, 38-6, although they showed themselves alarmingly weak against passes as the opposition impudently marched the length of the field to score after drilling pass after pass into the demoralized Varsity backfield.

Then came what was probably the nadir of the season so far as the Mountaineers were concerned. Little Washington and Lee held the mighty University team to a 6-6 draw, and it took a last minute "length of the field" march to gain us a tie.

Creighton was defeated, 21-13, in a thrill-packed game which saw substitute Bob White crash through center for a touchdown with 20 seconds of play remaining. The score came after White doggedly pounded his way half the length of the field on successive line-plunges. Audia and Rapaswick were the other heroes of this game. A third-string Varsity started against Youngstown and easily subdued them, 27-6.

Georgetown scored twice in the last quarter, once on a disputed play, to ruin the Mountaineer Homecoming. The Hoyas, however, deserved the victory as they outplayed the Mountaineers on both offense and defense. Manhattan also whipped the Mountaineers by two touchdowns, although the Varsity outplayed the New Yorkers and outdowned them, 7-2. Western Reserve continued its undefeated spell by ekeing out a 7-0 victory over the Mountaineers after a game that was closer than the crusts of a lunchwagon pie.

Came the final game with George Washington and a close victory, 7-6, with the Mountaineers outplaying the Colonials over most of the route. Hockenberry leaped high in the end zone to nail a long pass from Audia with ten seconds remaining in the first half to score. Audia converted the extra point for the one point margin.

A disappointing season to be sure, but one that was full of black cats and broken mirrors. The team seemed even better than the one that whipped Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl the year before. Fortunately, only a few really valuable players graduate. They are: End, Charley Eller; Fullback, Sammy Audia; Guards Alex Atty, who made most of the all-opponents' teams and who will play professional ball this fall, and Murino DeAngelis; Quarterback, Harold Lorenz; and Tackle, Doug Foley.

Glenn will have lettermen two and three deep at every position this season, in addition to eight or ten likely prospects from the mediocre Fresh eleven. Returning at end will be: Dick Dolly, John Shonk, Bud Smith, Bob Mellace and Joe Siko; tackles: Al Biasi, Bob Heckert, Walter Pike, and Bud Woofert; guards: Gus-sie, Cestarick, Richardson, Sherwood and Sterle; centers: Mandich and Jennings; backs: Clark, Pinion, Davies, Carliss, White, Rapaswick, Hockenberry, Seabright, Ellis, McCullough, Rockis, and Simmons. The Freshmen will send Phillips, Stansbury, Forney, DeFranco, Antolini, Sharp, Goodman, and Gilooly.

RICHARD N. "DYKE" RAESE
Varsity Coach

Doc Naismith's game hit slightly greener pastures at the University this season, as the Mountaineers hoisted themselves, covered with mold, out of the conference cellar which they had learned to call home. Furthermore, any child can and will tell you, that with several breaks the Raesemen might have won the conference championship.

All in all, fans were treated to one of the most exciting home seasons in years as the embattled Mountaineers fought out every game to the last man. Games were close and hearts were beating in swing time most of the season.

It was Coach Richard "Dyke" Raese's first season as Varsity mentor and his teams pleased everyone. He inherited a team of headaches. At the end of last season it looked as if the Varsity this year would have plenty of height and reserve strength. What happened? Moorehead and Netherland didn't return to college. Fisher dropped basketball. Pell dropped out of college at the semester. Seabright was declared ineligible. Hockenberry was handicapped by a charleyhorse.

That left Shepko and Hockenberry as the forwards, Brooks at center, and Mandich and Capt. Harry Lothes at the guards. Only Jimmy McCartney was classed as capable reserve material, and Jim stands about 5:7 in his cornpads.

Despite this woe, the Mountaineers managed to win more than they lost. They defeated Temple at Temple, for the first time in five years. Pitt was whipped at Pittsburgh for the first time in eight years. The Varsity lost a 51-50 decision to the great St. John's team at Madison Square Garden, and then a protested, three extra-period game to Penn State here.

Homer Brooks broke his own record for foul shooting both for the season and for the conference games. He really proved he was there when the chips were down by sinking 11 out of 11 in the close Penn State game.

Harry Lothes made numerous all-conference teams, and all all-opponent teams. He then made the official all-conference team and finished third in conference scoring—a remarkable record for a guard. Brooks was fourth in scoring and made the second official team.

A great Freshman team, owning 15 victories in 17 starts, will send Baric and Ruch, the "Scoring Twins" to the Varsity next season along with Smittle, Kalmar, Henry, Hicks, Gillooly and Pharr. The Varsity lettermen all will return with the exception of Capt. Lothes. They are Brooks, Seabright, Hockenberry, Mandich, Shepko and McCartney. Reserves are Haller, Brown, Ellis, Stansbury and Whipkey.

First row—Livingston (Mgr.), Ryan, Falkinstine, Sloman, Brown, Bennet, Anderson, Myer, Grossman, Kell, Nachbar, Tyson (Mgr.).

Coach Ira Errett "Rat" Rodgers' ball club last spring was handicapped by inconsistent pitching and the lack of a slugger of the game-breaker type to team with Art Scalli. As a result the Mountaineers came through a tough schedule with several spots knocked off them, winning five and losing ten.

Captain Art Scalli, stellar leftfielder, displayed astonishing ability in the clutches, delivering extra-base blows in several games with men on base in the ninth inning. Krenosky, who showed signs of developing into a real pitcher, was unable to return this spring, and Harry Clark, who came along fast at first base, both in fielding and hitting, was occupied with spring football training.

The Mountaineers this spring are a young team, a team that definitely promises to go places. Handicapped by bad weather, Rodgers' tyros stepped out with one day's outdoor practice under their belts and gave a veteran touring Michigan State team two close battles, before losing, 7-5 and 6-4.

The Mountaineers present a veteran outfield and a sophomore infield. Lorenz is in left, and led the Mountaineers in hitting in the first series; Anderson, fleet centerfielder, is back; and Hockenberry, star catcher of the freshman squad last season, is in right.

Schilansky is on first, Sloman and Grossman are the keystone combination, and Charley Brown is on third. All look good on defense.

Captain "Ducky" Nachbar, handles the catching ably and comes through with a bingle now and then. The pitching is in the hands of John Lee "Squint" Phares, who is now trying his hand at baseball after football, basketball, and track. Phares is a steady pitcher who may come along fast. Even more impressive was the debut of Bennett, a sophomore, in the second game. With better support, he might have whipped the Spartans. Fred "Chief" Nebera, another senior, will round out the corps.

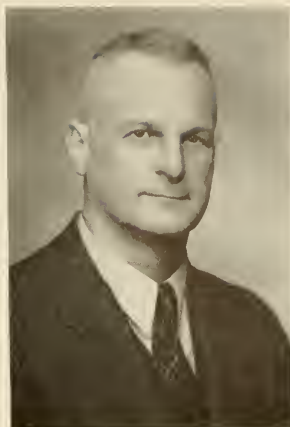

The reserves are Ryan in the infield and outfield; Falkenstine, catcher; Tritschler, outfield; Flanagan, outfield, and Brown, infield.

ARTHUR N. "ART" SMITH
Track Coach

Once again the track and shoe sport received little support at the University, in spite of the fine results that Coach Art Smith has been getting with only a skeleton squad of athletes. The Mountaineers managed to break even in their four dual meets last year in spite of the fact that Coach Smith had only a small squad with which to work.

This year a fine bunch of sophomores reported in addition to several holdovers from last year's team. Missing were star hurdler, Capt. Kenny Risky, and sprinter, Dave Isaac, but the other mainstay of the team, Tony Rapaswick, was back to toil with the weights. In addition, Tom Davies was back for the sprint and jumps. Cather, a good hurdler, lent strength in that department and the sprints. Springer, weightman Ossoski, and distance men, Weiland and McElhinny, were also on hand.

The sophomores who added strength were Strouse in the sprints and hurdles, Savage in the pole vault, Livesay in the sprints, Tressler and Helm in distance events, and Reed in the high-jump.

Weiland, junior distance man, did 2:02 for the half mile in early practice and Coach Smith pronounced his 4:38 for the mile an indication that Weiland was improving. Cather's fine mark of 18.9 seconds for the one-lap indoors dash was also considered good. Strouse's sprinting has been good, and Rapaswick is probably the best weight man the University ever had. Savage is likely to surpass all vault marks before he is through.

Second row—Domenic Pisegna, Coach Art Smith, Anthony Rapaswick, Charles Reed, Ray Waters, Frederick Weiland, Meade Livesay, Jameison Brown, Robert Stemple, John Nicklos (Mgr.).

Boxing

Minus the services of national intercollegiate champs Dickerson and Littlepage, boxing fell into evil ways at the University last winter as the Varsity beak-busters managed to win only two out of six matches. Coach Eddie Vacheresse was handicapped by injuries, heavy scholastic schedules and withdrawals.

The Mountaineers won both matches at home. C. C. N. Y. was defeated, 5-3, in a close set of battles in which there were no knockouts. Temple was short-handed and short-winded, and lost, 7-1, after forfeiting in three weight divisions. Their only victory came when Guido, conference champion for three years, KO'd the University representative.

Away the Varsity ran afoul of Kentucky, Bucknell, Wisconsin, and Michigan State. The Mountaineers were never in the latter two battles which the Mid-westerners won hands-down. The other two cake-walks were more exciting than a kicking mule in a dynamite factory, with the Varsity leather-pushers losing by close and even disputed decisions.

Sammy Puglia, brother of the immortal Pete, led the boxers as a sophomore losing only in the Wisconsin match after a wild right had smashed his nose. It was his first defeat in the ring. Capt. Paul Miller copped the duke in the majority of his tete-a-tetes and Beecher Hinkle showed flashes of brilliance.

The rest of the lineup was shifted often as Coach Vacheresse had to replace injured or scholastically-deficient men. Ward, Linger, Maurer, Piseгна, Gussie, Previll, Bonfili, Shears, Baker, and Fisher all boxed in intercollegiate matches. Of these, Miller, Baker, Bonfili, and Previll will graduate. The squad will be considerably bolstered by the stars of the Freshman team, Gene Tudor and Crispin Hernandez.

Capt. Miller and Previll survived the semi-finals of the Eastern Intercollegiate tournament, but both were defeated in the finals. The University had previously won the conference title in five out of eight years, and this was the first year that it failed to land at least one weight-division championship.

Bottom—Paul Satterfield, 121; Tom Davies, Heavy; John Hammar, 155.

Wrestling lost its grip on popular imagination, if you will pardon the crack, as Coach Whitey Gwynne's matmen managed to win only one of five matches. It must be said here and now, however, that it was one of the toughest schedules ever negotiated by a Varsity squad. Temple and W. & J. had good seasons, and Case, Ohio State, and Michigan State are always good.

Capt. Earle Lancaster concluded his brilliant Varsity wrestling career, although handicapped by injuries that at one time made it doubtful whether he would be able to wrestle at all this year. He finished with only three defeats in three years of grappling. Except for him, Hall was the only graduate, leaving a fine squad of men for next year.

Next to Lancaster, McArdle and Satterfield were the most consistent wrestlers, with Kimble, Conaway, Hammer, and Davies improving rapidly. Several good prospects from the Freshman squad will round out a promising aggregation for next spring.

Tennis

Minus veterans Littlepage, Klebe and Camp, Coach Tom Ennis was nevertheless expected to turn out an impressive tennis team from the largest squad of tennis candidates in some years. Returning squadmen were Capt. Austin Dudderar, Rice, Coffield, John and Bob Spangler, McAllister, and Jones. Several other candidates were regarded as excellent choices to break into the lineup.

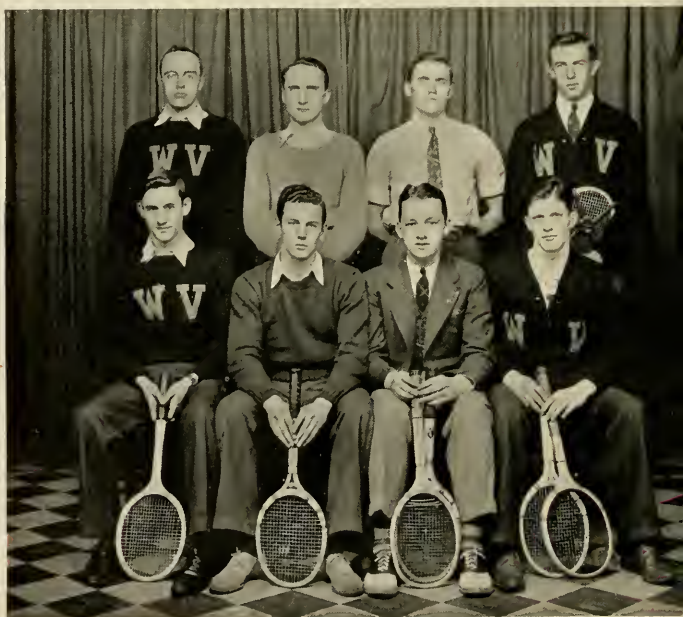

Last spring the netters had far from an impressive record, but the teams they played were as far from mediocre as Walla Walla is from Timbuctoo. After several tennis balls had had the life smashed out of them and several pairs of white flannels had gone through the wringers too often, the Mountaineers turned up with a season's record of three victories and six defeats.

If it had not been for the ability of the T'Ennismen to win at home, the season might have been truly disastrous. After losing to Duquesne away, 7-2, the Varsity smeared the Dukes here, 5-4. After defeating W. & J. here, 8-1, the Mountaineers absorbed a drubbing there, 5-4. After losing to the Ennismen here, 7-2, the Methodists from Wesleyan won at home, 6-3.

 First row—Chan Campbell, George Hopkins, Captain Tom Graham, John Fear.

University golf is apparently headed for a banner year. Captain Tom Graham and all five of his worthy colleagues—Hopkins, Fear, Bird, Sharpenburg, and Campbell—returned this year to comprise the 1939 Varsity—a Varsity that came through a difficult season in 1938 with three victories and six defeats.

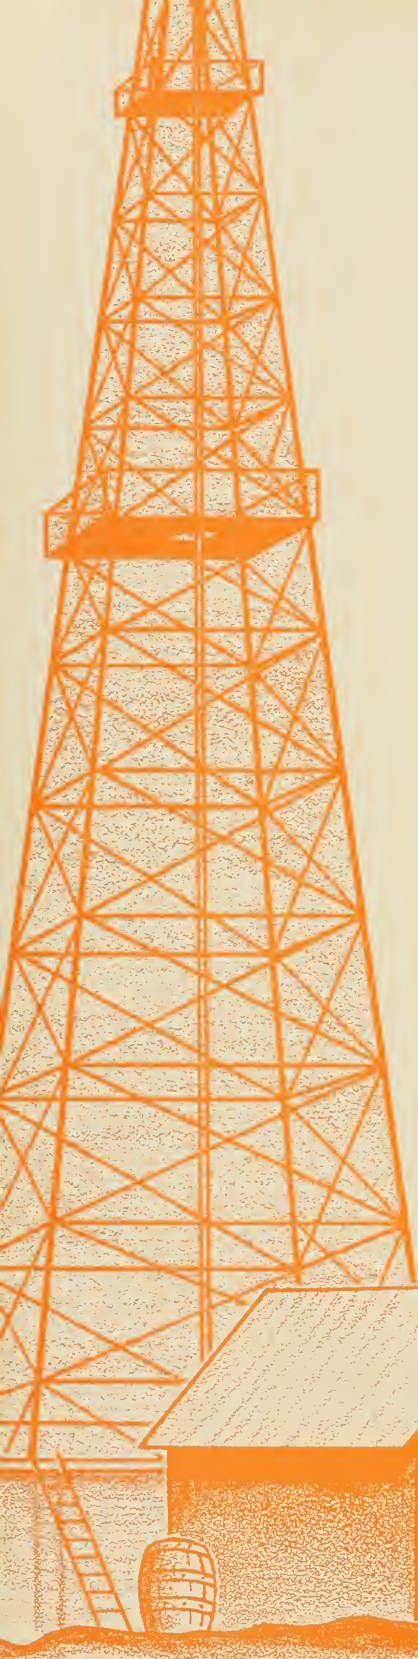

In spite of the fact that all six of last season's regulars were on hand, it was by no means certain that they would all start the first match. Bob Wilson, Albert Spencer, and Bill Witt, transfer from Kansas State, were regarded as having excellent prospects of breaking into the lineup of regulars.

Feature matches of the 1938 season were the return matches with Carnegie Tech, Duquesne, and Waynesburg, which the Mountaineers won after losing to all three of these teams away from home. The only team to defeat the golfers on their home links was the mighty Pitt Panther. In this match John Fear upset the star of the Panthers, Bill Daddio, who also earned a few words of praise for his alter ego, as an all-American football end.

Graham, serving as captain again this season, was perhaps the most consistent of the linksmen, as he toiled against the best man each opponent had to offer.

Just Old-Fashioned!

Not the greatest . . . not the largest . . . but an organization devoted to a principle of excellence. For more than three decades hundreds of yearbook editors and business managers have placed their faith in our ability to help them design, publish, and finance unusual yearbooks . . . Just old-fashioned in principle, but with a very definite flare for the best in modern publication trends!
